About Advertising.

The development of the art of advertising during the last four or five years has been very remarkable. The newspaper advertisment has changed radically both in form and character. It is no longer a bald and dry announcement of a private business to which a great part of newspaper readers give no particular attention, but has become an interesting feature of the journal that compels everybody's observation.

This is because the advertisment of all extensive advertisers are now prepared more carefully and skillfully with regard to both their literary construction and their typographical display. They are better written and they are more arttstic in appearance. They present more attractively and strikingly the peculiar features and advantages of the business or articles advertised. They give information valuable to the public in a form and manner that make it readable also. Advertising space is costly in all newspapers in which it is worth while to advertise, and consequently such business announcements contain only the words necessary to produce the desired impression. There is no redundancy in them. Every word is made to tell; and therein is the secret of the most effective writing. The expression of many of these advertisements nowa- likely he has sufficient education to days is so far picturesque that they at- make his own way in the world. HIs Bad "Break."

From the Chicago News:

English verbs are often a source of great confusion and trouble to foreigners who attempt to learn the language. A writer in an educational journal man had with the verb "to break."

"I begin to understand your language better," said my French friend, M. Dubois, to me, "but your verbs trouble me still; you mix them up so with the prepositions.

To say that Hall has been badly worsted by his late speech in congress is putting it very mild.

grease spot of him, to use a common parlance phrase.

Hall had made some of his confidg constituents believe, among other things, that he was the author of the ncome-tax bill passed by the 53rd ongress and since declared unconstiational by the supreme court. They point with pride to the part he took in the fight for the people against plutocracy, but DeArmond punctures this ncome-tax balloon, and lets out the wind. In other words, he shows that Hall is not the at thor of it, and in so doing enables the people of the Second congressional district to see nore clearly the character of the man nat attricts them in congress.
